

The candidates are picked...
The rhetoric is flying...
The media are absorbed...
Our issues fall by the wayside...
What can we do?

As the election season nears we all know that the attention of the public and the media shifts to the electoral stage. The candidates focus on re-election and the media focus on them. Meanwhile, our issues fall by the wayside. Instead of being left behind by the electoral season, learn how to use this shift to your own advantage and force your issue into the spotlight.

BIRD DOGGING allows the people to reclaim the media spotlight during the electoral season by forcing candidates to listen and respond to their issues. By continually engaging our candidates wherever they go, we can pressure them to answer our questions and address our demands. Let our candidates know we will be watching, and we won't put up with their lies anymore.

Help bring democracy back to the grassroots level and join INSTEAD OF WAR!
